Walter J. Robbins
1911-1967

Soft-spoken, unobtrusive Walter J. Robbins performed efficiently his tasks as Chief Engineer of the Troy Public Schools. But his helpfulness ranged far beyond his professional duties. Ever curious and studious, Walt, as we knew him, sharpened his versatile interests into tools used and needed to facilitate the orderly operation of many school activities. Whether assisting a student to open a stuck locker or a teacher to hang a fallen map; whether assembling many ladders to string ceiling decorations for a school party or an electronic system to amplify floating harmonies for a musical festival, Walt always responded cheerfully to these extra demands upon his time. Because he was dependable, the school depended upon him; and now in mourning his passing, we miss Walter J. Robbins.

Academics

Most of the day of a student is spent in school. Thus it is important to have a responsible administration, dedicated teachers, and a suitable curriculum. The courses of study at Troy
High School are set up to fit the needs of every student.
College preparatory does just what the name implies — prepares a student for college. Math, chemistry, physics, English, and many foreign languages are offered to give these students the opportunity to absorb as much technical knowledge as necessary. The business courses teach students the skills that are desperately needed in the business world.
Industrial arts covers metal and wood work, welding mechanics, graphic arts, and electricity. The home economics classes teach girls and boys the fundamentals of cooking, sewing, interior decorating, and home nursing. Many of the faculty either have their master degrees or are working towards them. And the administration is the best. All of them are dedicated, instilling Truth, Honor and Sportsmanship in the students of Troy High School.

The Board of Education, the policy making body of the Troy Schools, is proud of the work of the administrative staff and teachers for their dedication to quality education. Through their efforts many changes and innovations have helped our schools move forward. The near future promises even greater opportunity for the pupils now entering school. It is a local byword that "whatever we attempt to do in the Troy Schools, we strive to do the best that we possibly can." We pledge our full support and best effort to see that this byword is justified.

GUIDANCE — Ruth Bowers, Allen Richards, Thelma Thompson, Lawrence Gorrell.

Those of us engaged in counseling today are humbled by the enormity and complexity of our task. We feel as Boswell described Samuel Johnson, "He did not strut or stand on tiptoe; he only did not stoop." And so we do not strut, but neither do we stoop as we think of our vital role in the total school program. We have a unique role with an emphasis always on the individual student as compared to other school personnel who often seek for smoothness in the total operation.

As guidance personnel we are concerned about the values young people adhere to and the direction they are headed. We seek to help each student become self directed in his search for a set of values that will help him lead the most productive life. It is our goal to aid THS students make sure they are able to find themselves in terms of their capabilities, goals for the future, and their relations with their fellow human beings.

Level I

At this level the pupils take part in activities developing academic skills. They work on the eight units required to complete the 9th and 10th grades at which time they move on.

Level II

At level 2 the academic skills are further developed, but major emphasis is placed on work skills and habits through active participation with the Work Study Program. Pupils complete the remaining eight units required for the 11th and 12th grades. With these 16 credits, the pupil graduates.

In a small world a knowledge of a foreign language plays an important part in our day-to-day existance. Troy High does its best with the three languages offered: French, Spanish, and Latin. Four years of French are offered, utilizing the audio-lingual system of teaching French. The students see films, listen to records, translate stories, and converse in French in the classroom. Spanish is also a four-year program, using the audio-lingual method. The students use generally the same type of equipment as the French students. Latin students learn the basic fundamentals of this ancient yet valuable language and its relation to other languages of today. The first year is spent in gaining practices and adaptibility in the use of Latin. The second year is primarily concerned with the writings of Caesar on his marches. The third year is involved with Cicero's arguments and philosophical works.

Industrial Arts provides the opportunity to learn skills which are helpful in obtaining employment. However, it is not intended to provide the specialized depth of training needed to learn a trade.

The courses offered at Troy High School are machine shop, woodworking, foundry, welding, electricity, mechanical drawing, graphic arts, power mechanics, and shop mathematics. Through these courses we attempt to help the students: develop good work habits and attitudes that will be helpful in jobs of a routine or repetitive nature; use the tools, materials, and processes of industry; develop an understanding of the importance of industry and labor in our American way of life; develop skills to qualify for initial employment; develop an understanding and appreciation of the work of others; gain a knowledge of the changes made in materials to meet the needs of society; concentrate their development of knowledge and skills in selected areas of work; and develop proper attitudes toward the application of safety practices.

The Business Department is so set up to give Troy students a firm background in the development of business techniques. In Gregg shorthand, students learn to take oral dictation and to retype it in business form. Typing courses stress both speed and accuracy, and help students learn to use various types of typewriters. Bookkeeping, the process of balancing accounts, is a one year course, as is record keeping, the technique of keeping files and records. Practical experience in the use of office machines is also offered, particularly in the senior course, Secretarial Practice, where girls learn to use dictaphones, adding machines, calculators, mimeograph machines, and copy machines.

The Social Studies department provides the Troy student with a rounded education in geography, American and world history, American government and foreign affairs, as well as sociology and economics. Newly added is the foreign affairs program, "International Relations," a one semester course for seniors. Study topics include all the major areas of the world and the American policy concerning each area; the United Nations and its function; Americanism; and governmental forms including totalitarianism, communism, and democracy.

Emphasizing the supposed budget of the United States is Mrs. Strickland, using her familiar "quote sign."

Freshmen watch Mr. Monce illustrate one of the physical theories of science.

This year eight aspiring young student teachers helped guide Troy students along the paths of learning while learning themselves. Each student teacher first observed many classes in his field. Then he took over a class, planned the lessons, lectured and gave assistance where possible. He even made up tests, all under the watchful eye of the regular instructor. We here at Troy High won't forget their valuable assistance and friendship.

Mr. Dooley directs the choir in one of their rehearsals.

Fine arts in Troy High covers three separate departments. In Speech, the students learn the fundamentals of a good speech, the various ways to prepare different types of speeches, and the rules of parliamentary procedure. Drama is more concerned with actual stage work, both in front and behind the scenes. Stage design, construction, and co-ordination of the physical factors of a production are stressed as strongly as motivation, movement, and delivery on the stage. Students in the field of art work learn how to use watercolors, mixed medium, polymer, oils, chalk, and ink to make sketches and fine detailed prints. The techniques of making clay models or busts are taught, as well as work with thread or wires. Students are encouraged to experiment in the use of various materials for their montage collages including magazines, newspaper, glue, and shellac.

Music in both vocal and instrumental development is intensively studied. The marching band emphasizes fast moving music, while demonstrating graceful formations on the football field. The orchestra learns to play all forms of instrumental music, from Bach and Beethoven to Rodgers and Kern. The choirs, freshman, sophomore, and senior, perform during the year, in both student assemblies and public concerts.

Robert E. Sugg

Distributive Education

Distributive Education is a program concerned with teaching students the fundamentals of buying and selling. Though the principles and theories of economics are taught, practical experience in dealing with the public is stressed. The student spends one-half day in the classroom studying subjects involved with his particular field of work, and the other half day on the job gaining training and experience. The DE program is based on three factors: the teacher, who sets up the program in the school and community; the employer, who gives valuable opportunities and advice to the student; and the student himself, who uses the program and opportunities to his best advantage.

Diversified Cooperative Training

Lee Mitchell

The D.C.T. program is the vocational part-time training program for high school seniors who are bound for skilled areas of work. In this program, students spend one-half day in classes studying subjects related to their jobs as well as other school subjects. The other half is spent with cooperating employers where the students receive on-the-job training. One student says, "D.C.T. has been the most rewarding thing I've ever participated in." Another says, "The D.C.T. program is one that is needed by all schools to help the people who are not particularly college-bound. It helps one learn what it is like to work at a job that really requires skill. It also helps us, the students, realize that the community will bend over backwards to help us face life after we graduate."

Organizations

"An assembly of good fellows . . . "

The success of all Troy High organizations depends upon the enthusiasm, cooperation, and competition of all.
The lifeblood of our enterprises is the spirit, eagerness, and zeal of the members. Block "T"
and Varsity "T", F.T.A.
and F.N.A., Science Club

Student Council — all work toward the development of their members today for the future. Through these organizations, every student is able to put into use those qualities which are important in daily life: Truth, Honor, and Sportsmanship.

School Leaders

The Student Council at Troy High School was very active this year. Although many activities were unnoticed by students, the Council purchased a new backdrop for the stage, a new rug for the front lobby, and the bookshelves in the back lobby for bus students to use. The Council also provided entertainment for the student school parties, the alumni dance, and the All-Club formal. Some of the civic accomplishments were revising the Constitution, recovering the furniture in the front lobby, collaborating with the Troy Chamber of Commerce to hold the Scholarship Banquet, sponsoring the W.O.L. Student Council Workshop, and initiating the movement to resurface the stadium parking lot.

Instrumental Music

SOUTHWEST REGIONAL ORCHESTRA MEMBERS — Mary Ellen Smith, Mike McCormack, Pattie Chipley.

The purposes of the "T-Tones," the stage band, are many. First, it provides a "showcase" for the more accomplished players to learn music of a different idiom. Secondly, the students are made aware of this type of music and hopefully gain an understanding and appreciation for it. Thirdly, the students are given the basic fundamentals in the use of chord symbols so they can learn to express themselves on their instruments through soloing "ad-lib" style.

The pep band provides music and skits for pep rallies, basketball games, and other school and community events of a "lighter vein." This student directed group rehearses on its own time after school. This year's pep band director is Harold Rice.

Activities

Activities are the nerve center about which the student body revolves.
Activities add life, zest, fun, and excitement to the short-lived years in high school. All of the extras and the niceties which are by-products of our high-school days are the activities. Proms, student elections, plays, and assemblies help round out the life of every student.
Troy High School's activities are the finest anywhere because they express our theme: Truth, Honor, and Sportsmanship.

Queen Jill Jensen

Homecoming 1966

Homecoming is one of our most treasured memories at T.H.S. Over this year's homecoming court — the best we've ever had — Jill Jensen presided as our beautiful Queen. Well-supported by her lovely attendants, she showed charm and grace on both the field and the dance floor. Lee Jones and Clara Sue McMullen, our very pretty and talented cheerleaders, had sincere smiles for everyone. Anne Heitzman, with a wonderful sense of humor, radiated a happiness that's contagious. Cindy Speelman, full of pep and energy, pleased all. And Libbie Holcomb, the wonderful girl with the wonderful smile, smiled and smiled.

U.N. WEEK

JCOWA took the lead this year in recognizing United Nations Week. Members decorated portions of the halls to represent various countries of the world which belong to the U.N. Africa set up "shack keeping" in the main lobby; Europe moved into the library showcase; an Indian snake charmer guarded the English wing; the math wing was overrun by South Americans; and the Orient controlled the front entrance and the back lobby. On Thursday, JCOWA members baked and served delicious samples of foreign breadstuffs and desserts to the students in the cafeteria. Their foreign food bazaar provided an interesting and enjoyable change in the atmosphere in the cafeteria as the students bought and traded goodies. Friday saw the members donned in costumes ranging from the peasant to the aristocratic dress of countries from Afghanistan to Zanzibar. The many different and colorful outfits caused quite a stir among the student body and helped some realize the extent and influence of the U.N.

Pictures, top to bottom:

WASHINGTON-NEW YORK TOUR

The Annual Washington-New York Study Tour was the highlight of the year for Claudia Burk, Greg Dixon, Connie Galbreath, Sylvia Hickman, Dennis Laabs, Danna Naughton, and Robin Wright. Accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Burk, civics teacher, the group left from Fairmont West with delegates from other represented schools in buses for Washington on Saturday, March 18th. Sunday was used for sightseeing in the capital on both guided and unguided tours. Early Monday morning, the group of 236 delegates reported to the Health, Education and Welfare Building to hear Mr. Lloyd Wright speak on USIA. William Johnston, professor of Modern Chinese history at George Washington University, discussed the crisis in Communist China. Members of the State Department briefed the groups on countries in the Middle and Far East. Their last day in Washington, Tuesday, was spent in Congress talking with Representative William McCulloch, Representative Charles Whalen, and Senator Frank Lausche, and meeting ambassadors from foreign embassies. Upon arrival in New York, in ten inches of snow, the Trojan delegation enjoyed a most fattening meal at famous Mamma Leone's, the Italian restaurant, then viewed the sights along Broadway.

Wednesday marked the tour's first day in New York City. The first item was a question and answer session with Donald Toussiant, Police and Security Affairs Advisor of the U.N. A discussion of the U.N.'s involvement in Vietnam and a tour of the U.N. building by guides of all nationalities was followed by a tour of New York City. On the last morning of the tour, the entourage met with various businesses and organizations dealing with Asian nations. At Columbia University the students attended another discussion on Red China, then went over to International House where they talked with Asian exchange students, toured the "House" and ate in their famous international cafeteria. From there these tired but happy travelers returned to Dayton, full of new and rewarding experiences.

Upward Bound

Upward Bound was a program designed for high school students who had the potential but lacked either the encouragement or the motivation to further their education beyond high school. It involved a full-time summer program at Earlham College, with follow-up programs at Earlham, the University of Dayton, and other nearby colleges during the school year. The turnabout of Upward Bound students from uninterested students to enthusiastic ones was attributed to the individual attention, smaller classes, freedom to concentrate on problem areas, and the awakening of cultural interests. Teachers, counselors, and undergraduate students, called tutors, who worked with the students attempted to understand them. They learned their language and dealt with them on their own terms—a new approach.

The summer program, eight weeks in length, was divided among classes, field trips, and new friendships. In the morning students attended classes in English, math, science, and Great Issues. English consisted of book discussions and critiques of plays seen at Antioch Summer Theater. Math was designed to teach the logic behind math rather than the fundamentals of math. The teachers helped the students learn to make logical deductions by applying the principles studied. In science, a study of biology and geology were the main fields. Many field trips were taken in connection with this course. The most popular course was Great Issues, in which the students discussed and argued such topics as race, city government, American educational system, and Upward Bound.

Two hours in the afternoon and in the evening were spent as study time in the modern library. The students could also use the equipment in the sound proof rooms to talk or listen to recordings. The rest of the afternoon was free time, and the students used the facilities such as riding trails, tennis courts, archery ranges, swimming pools, art rooms and darkrooms for their enjoyment. The newspaper, UPWARD BOUND SPEAKS, was the highlight of their free time. A copy was sent to each of the parents, keeping them informed on what was happening. Many of the parents commented on how much they enjoyed the newspaper when they came over for Parents' Day, the fifth Sunday in the program.

Weekends were spent on supervised trips to various cultural events. Antioch Summer Theater, Miami University Summer Theater, Edgecliff at Our Lady of Cincinnati College, and two symphony concerts were some of the events. But some of the trips were for pure enjoyment, such as the Reds' ball game and the zoo in Cincinnati, a picnic in Hueston Woods, and parties at Whitewater State Park.

Twelve students from Earlham and twelve from Purdue entered in an exchange program to compare the two programs. The programs were completely different in size and atmosphere, especially since Earlham usually has an enrollment of 1,000 students and Purdue has an enrollment of 20,000 students.

Mrs. Burk introduces Steve Current as the first speaker at the Upward Bound assembly.

Merm demonstrates his skill during the performance of the stage band.

During the poetry assembly, Judy Houck, accompanied by Mary Shartle on the guitar, sings "The Autumn Leaves."

Assemblies played an interesting part in varying the day-to-day schedule. Sports assemblies were introduced this year. The entire student body met in the gym to see team members receive their awards in all the varsity sports. One assembly was put on by the gymnastic team, in which the members went through some of their routines, demonstrating the various phases of gymnastics. The English department put on an assembly in the form of a contest in memorized works and dramatic readings. Many students participated, using pieces from Broadway plays to popular songs. Two musical programs were presented this year by the music department; one featured the orchestra and the other the concert band. Our newly-formed stage band, the "T-Tones" made its first appearance during the band assembly. Amateur hours were another type of assembly where members of the student body performed various acts for the school. There were also two special assemblies this past year. One was a travelogue talk and film by Ted Bumiller of his travels in Spain; the other one was a discussion and demonstration of SCUBA equipment and deep-sea diving by Jean Kauanui.

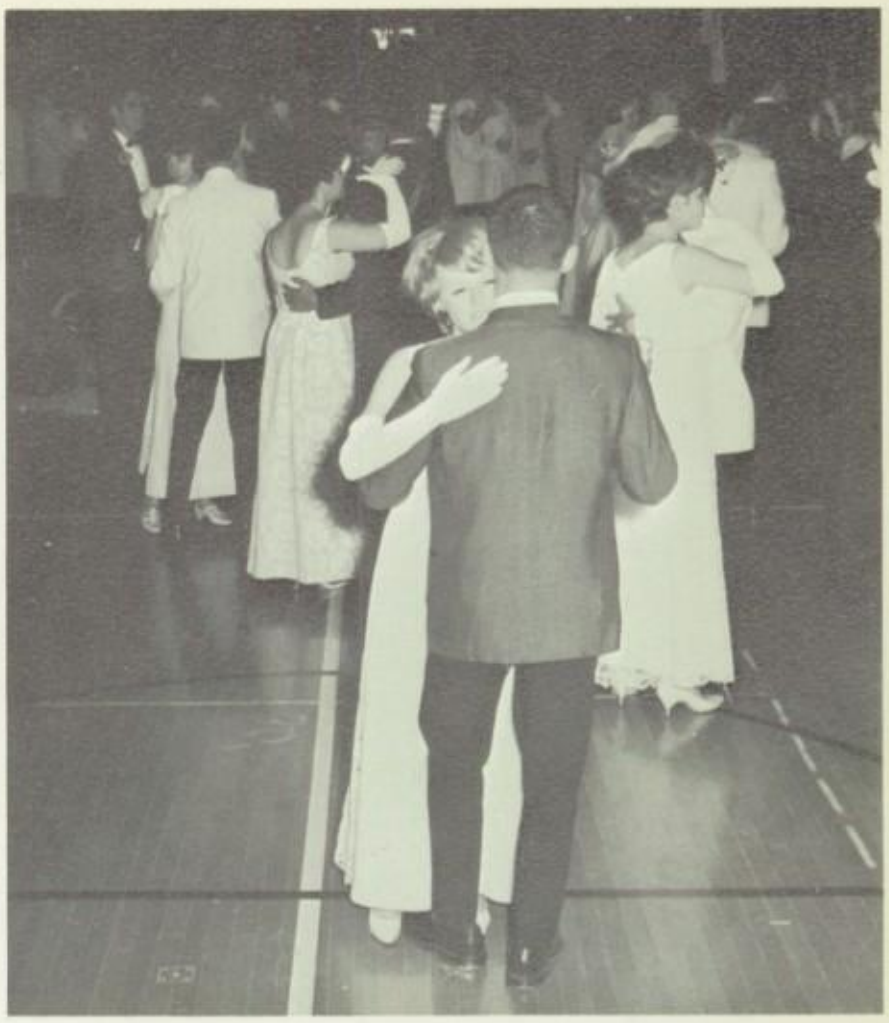
An Evening to Remember:

Junior-Senior Prom, 1967

A treasure chest, a mermaid, and sea life all decorate the centerpiece and background.

Happy Jack Walton announces the next number.

The theme of the 1967 Junior-Senior Prom was "King Neptune and His Court." On the walls, drawings of aquatic life were pasted onto marine colored paper, with huge fishnets draped over them. The bandstand was covered with the marine paper and fishnets. To enter the gym, the couples had to walk under an alcove of nets, which gave them the impression of taking a submarine dive to the ocean floor. On either side of the throne, placed in a giant shell, were huge mermaids atop porpoises riding through the depths of the sea. Two large porpoises were also placed in front of the throne. The centerpiece was a treasure chest overflowing with jewels guarded by a mermaid and her pet fish, and a wrecked pirate ship. From the ceiling drifted many multicolored fish, seaweed of every type, sea horses, and starfish. Each table, covered with light blue paper, had two goldfish bowls on it, each with a goldfish. Refreshments consisted of fish-shaped crackers and seawater punch. The high point of the evening was the crowning of King Paul Gearhardt by junior Robin Wright, and of Queen Clara McMullen by junior Steve Rhoades. Delightful dance music was provided by the Happy Jack Walton Band.



Clara and Paul enjoy their first dance together as king and queen.

Seated within the clam shell, the Court watches their subjects enjoying the evening.

Discussing the events of the evening with the royal couple are Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Kazmaier.

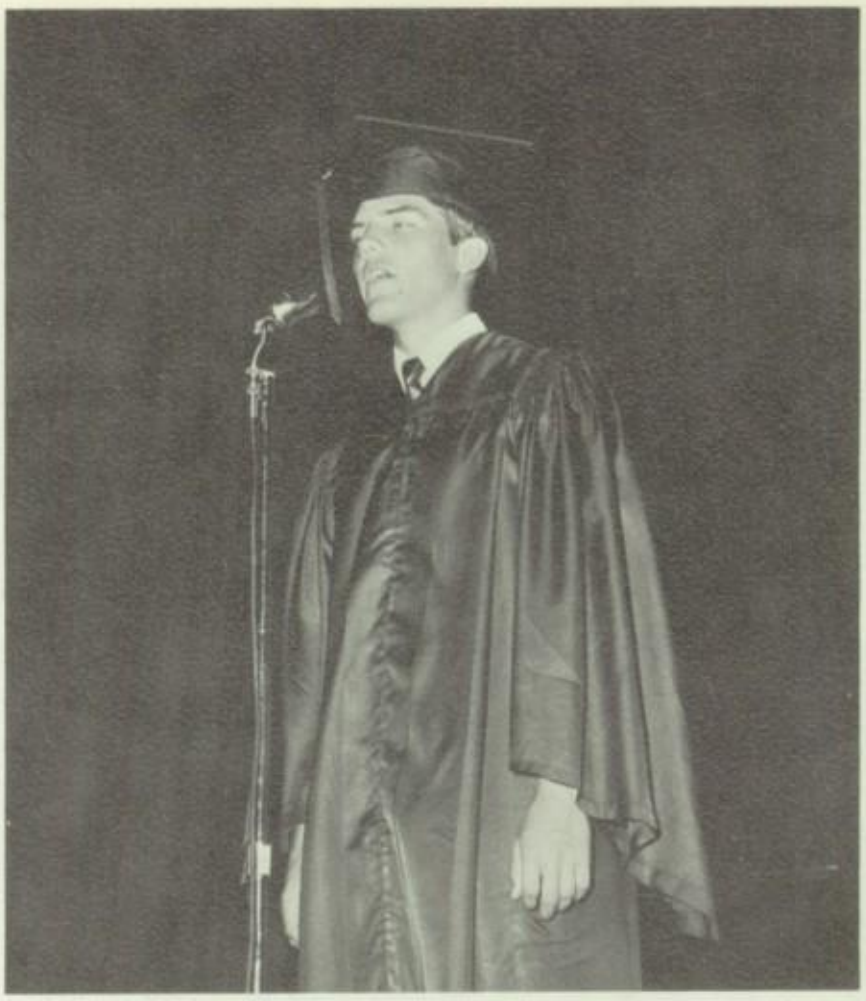
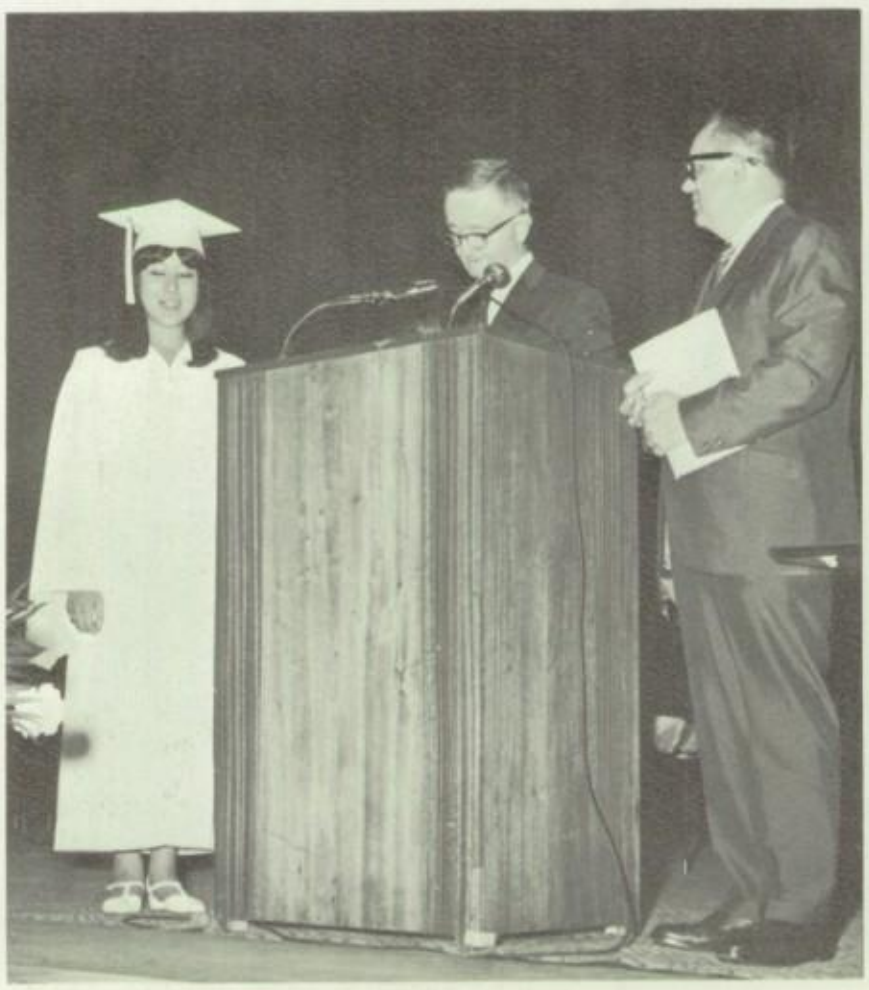
Reverend Joseph E. Quinn, Jr., Assistant Pastor at the First Presbyterian Church, delivers the Baccalaureate.



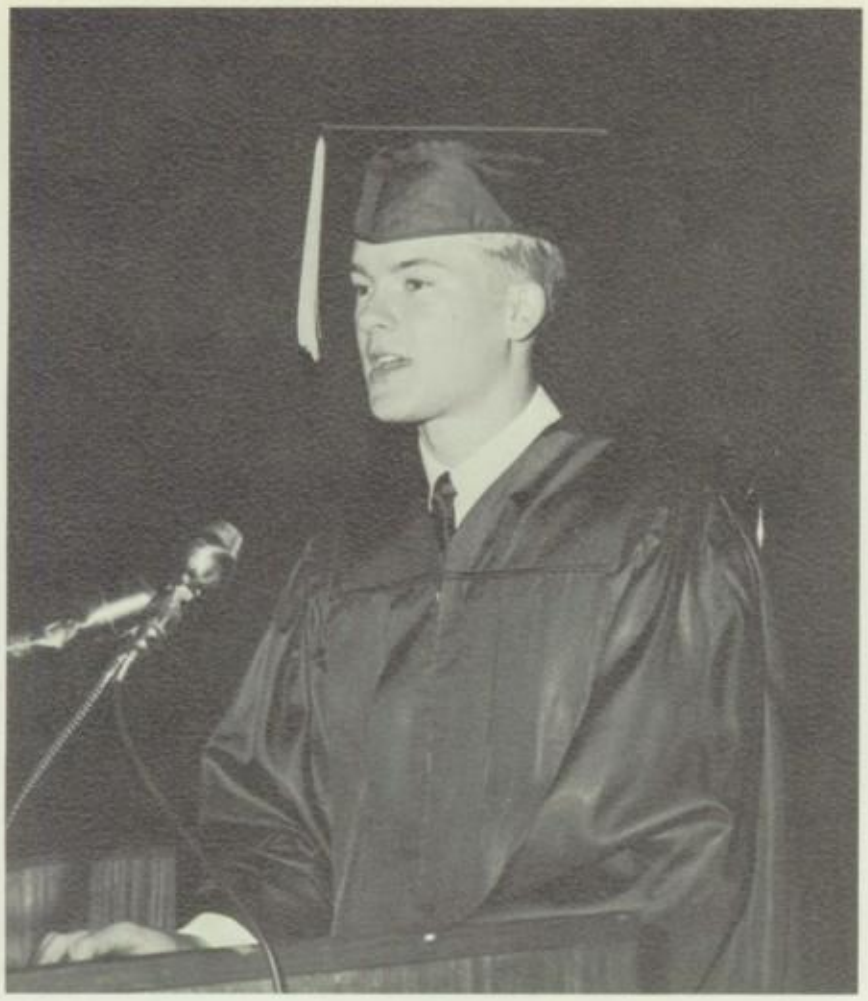
Singing a solo, "Come Ye Blessed," is Harold Rice, a member of the senior choir.

A Time for Contemplation

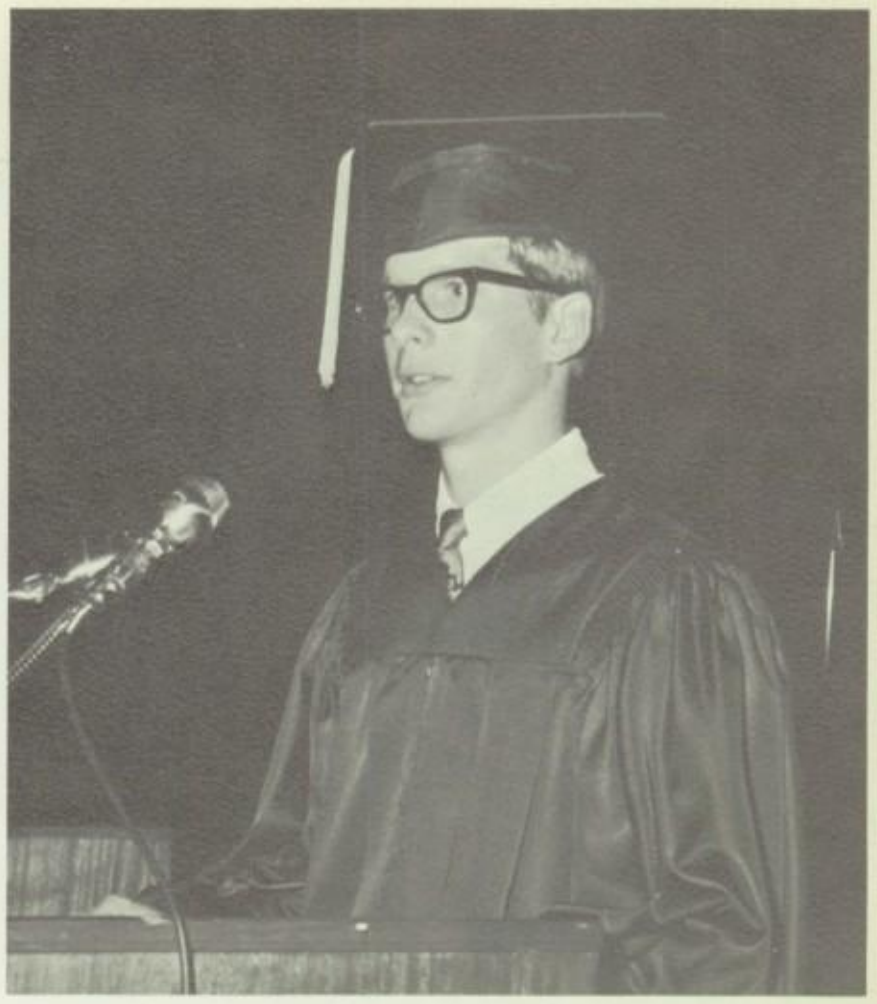
Becky Eberwein receives her diploma from Dr. Vorpe.



Troy's exchange student, Silvia Kainuma, receives special recognition from Mr. Hoffman.



Richard Paul Rosen delivers his Valedictory speech.

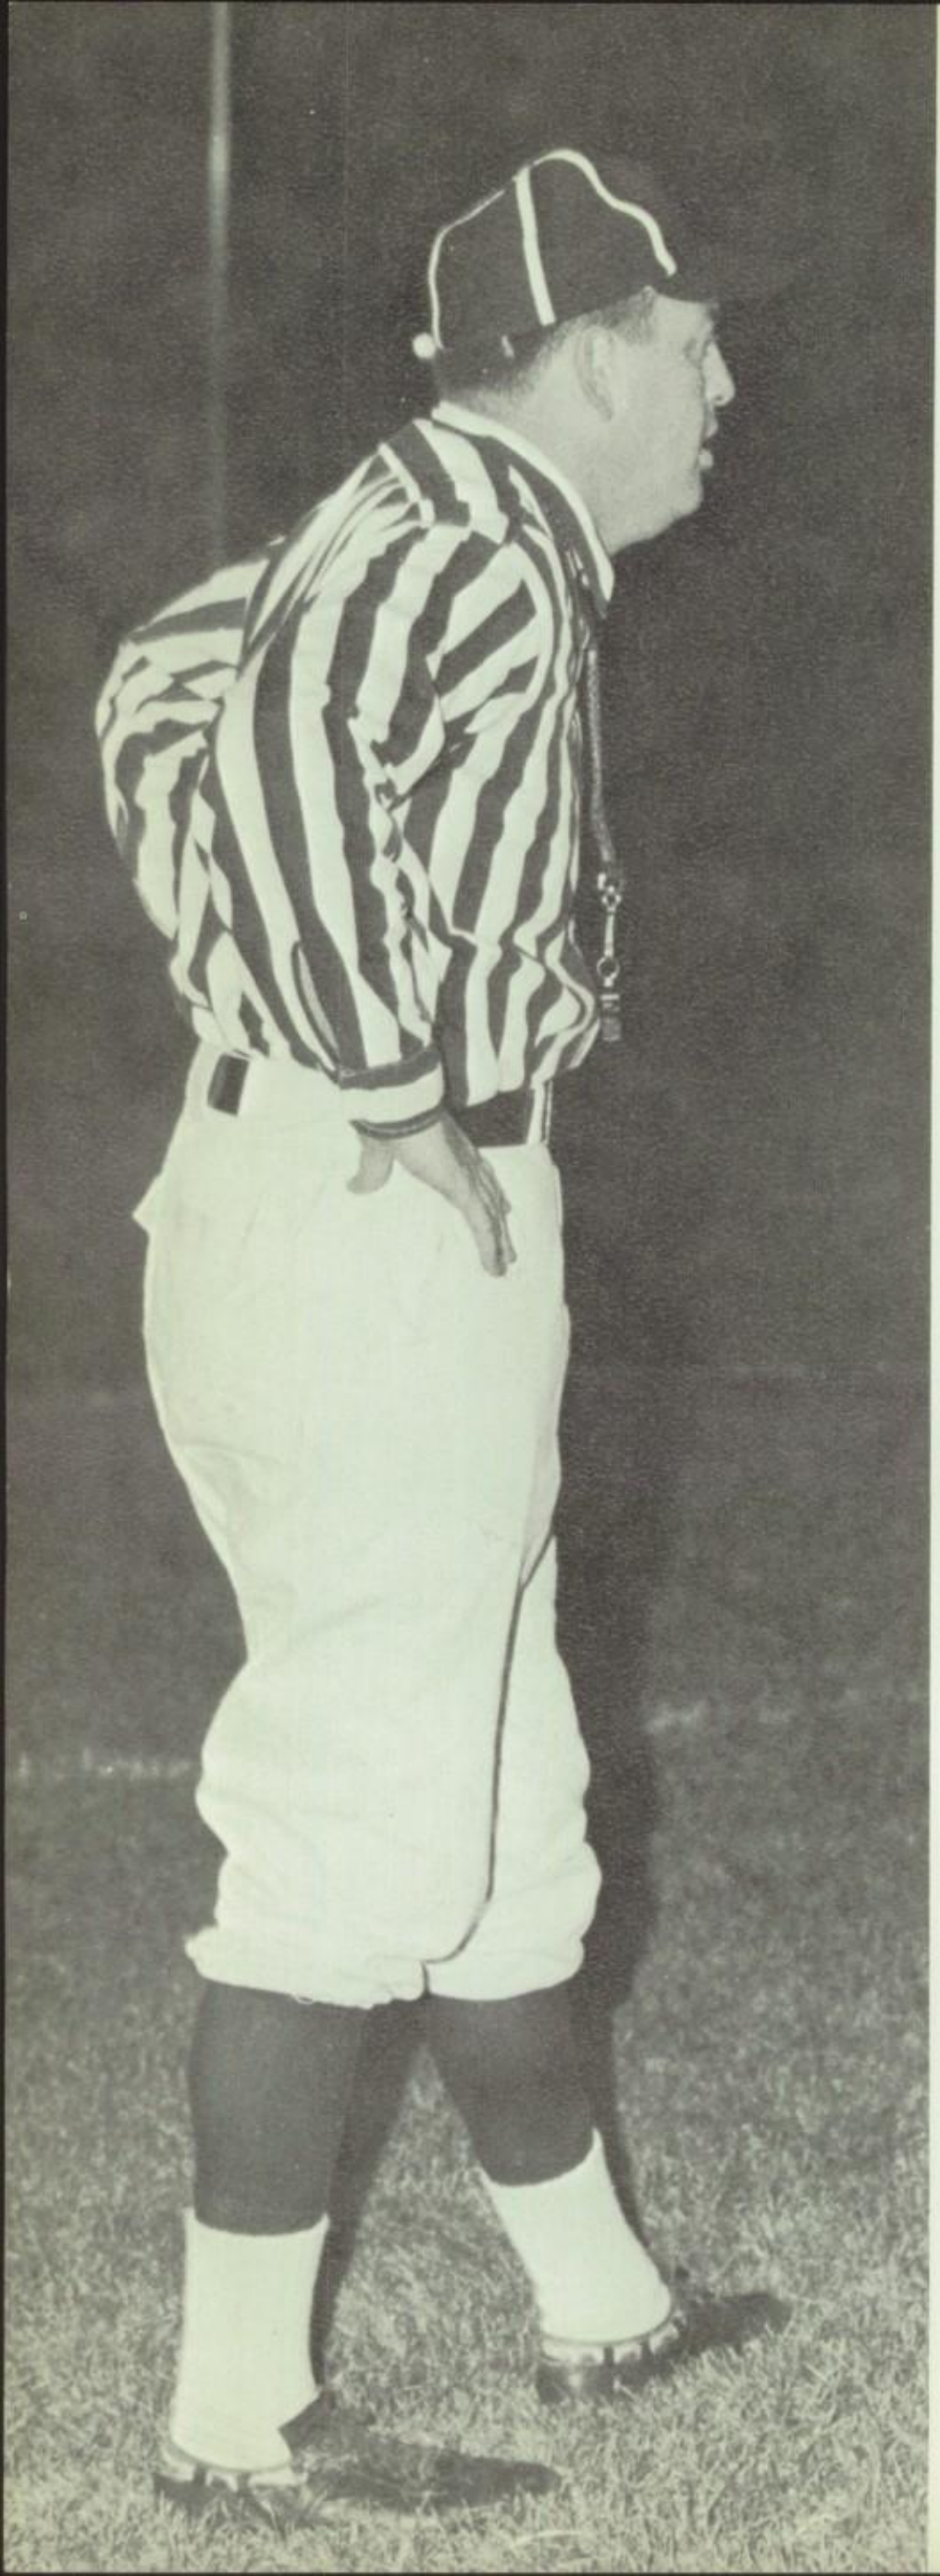


Giving the Salutatory is Robert Morris Oxley.

GRADUATION

Silvia Kainuma thanks the students at Troy High and the people of Troy for the most wonderful year of her life.

Dr. Vorpe presents a diploma to James Baker.



Sports

Crushing tackles, smashing serves,
and lofty shots satisfy an individual almost as much as an "A" paper. Sports play an important role in schools —
and especially at Troy High. They give the student a chance to develop a strong body
for his strong mind.
Though a scoreboard shows
only the final outcome of a season, each student knows the extreme effort and self-sacrifice that go into each score. We may not win every game, but our teams give their very best. They do conduct themselves in a manner befitting our ideals:
Truth, Honor, and Sportsmanship

FOOTBALL 1966

Though we had a disappointing season record with one win and eight losses, we know that the Trojan team gave their best in trying to win. Our football team spent many long hours on the practice field creating new plays: the flea-flicker in which Steve Rhodes and Paul Smith combined for a spectacular touchdown, and the shot gun method of defense.

It takes a little more for a losing team to keep its spirit running high, to want to hit a little harder, and to work hard at practice, but our coaches and school had faith in the Trojans. Though we had some bad breaks this season, we want to say "Thanks" to the team and coaches for working hard for Troy High School in 1966.

In basketball Troy High took many awards and set many records this year. The team led the M.V.L. for the third year straight in scoring with a 72.4 point average per game. Many players deserve mention. Mike Buckalew averaged 23 points and 20 rebounds per game. He had the leading field goal percentage and was judged the team's most valuable player. Mike also made the all-M.V.L. and the all-area teams, was voted the most valuable player in the Holiday Tournament, made the Holiday Tournament team, was the leading scorer in the area, and made honorable mention in the all-State team. As a crowning glory, Mike was voted to the Prep All-American team. Gene Evilsizor and Irvin Frazier were voted to the second M.V.L. and the all-area teams, and made the Holiday Tournament team. Tom Mercer made the all-area team.

During the year, Dave Sims was the leading foul shooter and Tim Kirtley was the best defensive player. Tom Mercer became the most improved player from the start of the season to the end. Doug Hall proved to be one of the team's best starters, starting in 85% of the games.

Wrestling is becoming

Again this year, the Troy High School wrestling team was well-balanced. The team met some of the toughest competition in Southwestern Ohio but carried home first place trophies from the Wayne, M.V.L. and Fairmont East tournaments. For the grand finale the boys won the M.V.L.

During the year, Don Grove had the fastest pin, 28 seconds. Paul Gearhardt led the team with 11 pins, 100 points, and 25 takedowns. Close behind him was Bill Seiple with 10 pins and 98 points. Randy Blair was second in takedowns with 24.

Bill Avey performs on the still rings.

Paced by co-captains Guy Edington, Walt Smith, and Jerry Davis, Coach Leibrock's gymnastic team came up with a fantastic 8-3 record for its second year in competition. The first of the M.V.L. schools to have competitive gymnastics, Troy acquired this record in competition against Dayton City and W.O.L. schools.

The strongest performances were on the side horse and still rings. Bill Avey and Mike Kniffin did very well in these events. Guy Edington placed in the State Gymnastic Meet in the side horse events, and Eric Edington placed in the trampoline events. Due to an accident in an earlier event, Jerry Davis was unable to participate in the State meets.

Cheerleaders

This year, Troy's six cheerleaders appeared in new uniforms. The Board of Education bought their new skirts — gray with red pleats — a flashy change from the solid red of years before. The Student Council gave the girls gray vests to wear at the basketball games — with the familiar red megaphone on the front. The girls themselves held a car wash to purchase new red and gray shakers, and new Troy's for the backs of their cheering sweaters. Troy had some of the best dressed and most spirited cheerleaders around.

Tennis finishes Year 16-3

Troy had an outstanding tennis team this year. They were the winners of the M.V.L. for the eighth straight year. Bob Oxley and Mike McConnell were first in first doubles, Doug Hall was first in second singles, and George Meeker was first in third singles. As District Runner-up in the district meet held in Dayton, Doug Hall and Gary Tremblay were sent as first doubles to the State and George Meeker, as third singles. George had a year record of 25-1, his only loss being to the State winner. Doug was the team's four-year letterman, with a cumulative record of 70-6 for the four years.

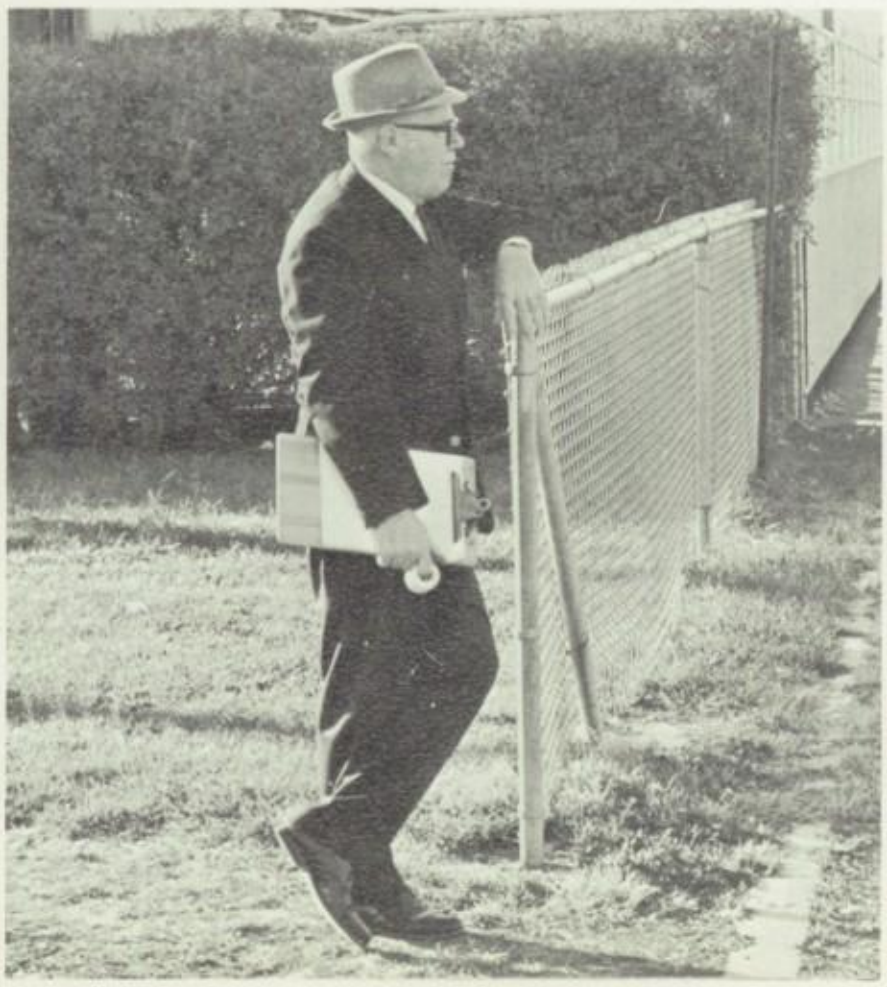
Track & Cross Country



Mr. Smith watches the cinder-grinders during one of their practices.

Underclassmen really blossomed into graceful runners this year as they represented our school in some of the toughest meets in the district. Since five of the first seven starters were sophomores and one was a junior, Troy High is assured a great cross-country team for the next couple of years. Marshall Jones placed third in the regionals where over 30 schools from the Dayton district and over 40 schools from the Sidney district (including Troy) were represented. Coach N. G. Smith feels that cross country could become one of our better sports in a few years.

Underclassmen

You're a freshman — frightened and afraid of high school, yet ready to take that big step that will change the course of your life.
Your fresh young faces and questioning attitudes revitalize the stoic walls of T.H.S. . . . You're a sophomore — in the swing of things and full of ideas to change dull routines. You know the ropes, the cool teachers and the way to get around regulations, yet you're tending to adopt a semi-serious outlook and beginning to really plan for the future . . .
You're a junior — almost an upperclassman. Half the school looks up to you, while the seniors introduce you to a new way of life.
You study(?) chemistry; you slave all year on the prom, take college board tests, and apply to colleges. Next year will be the last.
Next year will be
the time to leave.
We've tried to instill
Truth, Honor, and Sportsmanship
into your thinking. Let T.H.S. work for you, to make life better
for all.

Freshmen

Everyone has to be a freshman at one time or another — , and you made it. Frightened to death by the seniors who spotted you right away as the Freshman Class. You were kidded, ridiculed, and the object of many a joke. But you came through smiling! Many juniors and seniors thought, "Did I ever look like that?" We know you weren't the first and by far won't be the last! Now is the time to determine your goals for the future. Remember the ideals of our school also apply to life. With Truth, Honor, and Sportsmanship
you can't fail.

How did it feel to walk into the building and not find yourself lost? How did it feel to belong?
You made it — you are a citizen of
T. H. S.! You
entered the Block "T."
You became members of the varsity teams — even if you did only warm the bench. You collected your bugs for biology and passed all your courses. You donated your enthusiasm. Now you are upperclassmen — the apprenticeship is over. But,
never forget that Truth,
Honor, and Sportsmanship are your ideals.

Juniors

You survived the teachers and the classes. You even managed to come through chemistry with only a few minor disasters —
at least the school is still standing. The freshmen finally looked up to you as the upperclassmen.
Yes, in these hallowed halls everyone has felt your presence. One year to go, and the big day will finally arrive. Use Truth, Honor, and Sportsmanship to make the world a better place for humanity. Let the world feel the impact of your greatness!

Seniors

Seniors! Does it seem possible? The major goal of the last twelve years was reaching this stage in our lives.
This year was filled with many new activities and old traditions. The hard fought football games and busy concessions; the spectacular basketball games with the pep band and the Block "T"; the pep rallies with cheering contests (which seniors "always"
won); the new sports
of gymnastics and wrestling which attracted participants and admirers; the chapels dominated by our class speakers and the talent assemblies
that grew in size
with participants; the fiery, competitive elections for city officers — all were part of our senior life and memories. Graduation culminated the work and activity of the year in a solemn ceremony which suddenly seemed too short.
But may we never lose sight of values
we developed here: Truth,
Honor, and Sportsmanship.

Mary Speer

MARY

A Troy High School student was chosen this past year to participate in the International Christian Youth Exchange program. Mary Speer, a 1967 graduate, is the first student from the Troy area to go overseas in this program. Sponsored by the Troy Council of Churches, Mary will travel to Indonesia in July to spend one year with an Indonesian family. She was chosen to represent Troy, Ohio, U.S.A., on the basis of written answers and a personal interview.

The problem Mary faced immediately was the language. In her search for a teacher, she literally "bumped into one." Backing out of a driveway, Mary was fortunate (?) to run into Mr. Sluiter's car. While talking to him, she mentioned her upcoming trip and discovered that he was fluent in the Indonesian language. He agreed to teach her Indonesian. According to Mary, the language was easier for her to learn than English would be for a foreigner. Although it was not similar to any language Mary has studied, the absences of article and verb changes enabled her to learn it quickly.

Before leaving, Mary had apprehensions of fitting in with the natives and adjusting to a somewhat lower standard of living. But being active in international affairs clubs and enjoying contact with foreign people and countries made her an ideal choice to send overseas. Last summer she took a tour of Holland, Sweden, and Denmark with 30 other students. This past year she was vice president of Junior Council on World Affairs, participated in United Nations Week, and attended the Mock General Assembly in Dayton.

On her return she will attend Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio. She will also speak at churches, schools, and civic organizations on her experiences. Mary was excited and eager to leave. "Just can't stand the waiting!" Her parents were happy and surprised, but her mother said, "Make sure you know where the American embassy is."

Mary's parting words were:

"Selamat murid T.H.S."

"Good luck to the students of T.H.S."

Silvia Kainuma

SILVIA

Living in Troy, sharing the life of an American family, school, and church has been just like a dream. I don't want to wake up. Almost everything is different. To be an exchange student is the most wonderful thing in the world. All the experiences I have had are experiences that have helped me to grow up and I'll remember all my life.

My biggest dream during all my life has been to travel around the world and meet new friends. The United States was the country I wanted to know the most, since it is such a popular, powerful, and pretty country. Only my father liked the idea. (My father, a minister of the Episcopal Church of Brazil, was born in Japan, but has been living in Brazil for many years. Now I think he is more Brazilian than Japanese. My mother is Brazilian although my grandparents immigrated from Portugal. I have a brother, 15, and a sister, 6. Some people say we look alike, but I don't think so. They are cute.) When my father told me about the I.C.Y.E., I thought immediately that that would be my big chance. My mother hesitated. But I applied; and when I got the letter from I.C.Y.E. saying that I was a future exchange student and that my home would be in Troy, Ohio, my mother was more excited than I.

I just dreamed about my trip. How would my foreign year be? Would everything work out all right? I had heard so many things about the America and Americans, about their different way of life. Would I get along well? I was afraid to be disappointed because Curtiba, the modern city where I live, has half a million people. When I found out that Troy was a small city, I wasn't completely disappointed — just a little bit. I also had other fears. Would the Americans like me? Would I like them? Would I be able to speak English? Would they understand my English with my Portuguese accent?

My fears disappeared when I got to Troy. How easy it was for me to make friends, and what is more important, good friends! I never thought that I would find such nice people here, and I realized how easy it is to get acquainted with people in a small city, especially Troy.

Always I'll have happy memories of this year in Troy. I think that the method of dating here is better than in Brazil. Maybe I'll start it when I go back (no chaperone). There are many things I would like to take back to Brazil. Snow, for example. I think snow is the prettiest thing in the world. I wish we could have at least a little bit in Brazil. Also the big cars, the trees during the fall, and some Americans.

To the Troy Council of Churches, my American family which I love so much, and all my friends who contributed to make my year the most wonderful in my life, your kindness, friendships and hospitality made me the happiest girl in the world. To graduate with the class if '67 is an honor for me. I'll never forget any of you, my friends.

I have to go back home, but I do hope to come back to see you Trojans someday. Until then, I'll be remembering you. I love you all!

Faculty Toast to Seniors

by EUGENE R. EPPERSON

When first asked to give the salute to the members of the class of 1967, I quite naturally wondered what I could say. The thing that I do best is compute. But, how do you compute a salute or a toast? I turned to that old pro, Mrs. Burk, for a suggestion. She reminded me that she had once given a salute entirely in verse. For her, fine; for me worse. I have come up with an equation, however. $C(289,1) + C(66,6) + C(6,6) = 4$. If you don't understand this equation, fine! If you do, it is, of course, false. This equation does, however, have significance for us. You see, the C(289,1) refers to you, each one of you. For C(289,1) is the number of combinations of a 289-membered set taking one member at a time. The C(66,6) refers to the members of the faculty of Troy High School, and the C(6,6) refers to our administrators. I am saying that the sum of all the combinations of each one of you together with all the combinations of six teachers (that is the usual daily contact by each of you) plus the direction of all of our administrators sums up to four. Four what?

Ah, that's the best part — four glorious years. Four very special years in which we, the faculty of Troy High School, saw you enter our lives as moderately shy little guys with freshly showered crew cuts and now exit from our lives as mature lads with longer shampooed tresses. We have observed cute little gals with skirts below their knees become sophisticated lasses with skirts above their knees; you know, miniskirts for little longs legs. Oh yes; four glorious years! We tired old pedagogues have helped you work from the Ancient Mariner's, "Water, water everywhere, and all the boards did shrink" to Macbeth's, "Out, out, damned spot"; from Latin's "sum, esse, fui, futurus" to "Et tu, Brutus?"; from a spoken "H_2O", that's aqua, you know, in General Science to a nonverbal "$_2H_2U$" in Advanced Science (sorry about that, Mr. Vesper). In mathematics, we have even seen some of you work through that four-act tragedy better known as Math 1, Math 2, Math 3, Math 4. Oh yes, four glorious years! My, how you have changed in these four years. Guys, from pink cheeks to beards and from bicycles to Buicks; gals, from bobby socks to hose and from bicycles to guys with Buicks. Yes, from an early teenager to your late, late teens we have seen you struggle, we have seen you toil, we have seen you persevere, with the result that we have seen you advance, advance, advance finally from the seats in the rear of Troy High School's auditorium to those way up in front. Oh yes, four glorious years! Four is the sum. Four glorious years with the members of the class of 1967.

And now near the close of these four years, I have the most pleasant duty of extending a toast from the faculty to each one of you. (Champagne glass is raised in a gesture of a salute to audience.) Yes, you probably think it is silly to use an empty glass. But, look again, for it is not empty; it is filled with happiness. It runneth over with happiness for you. So, hail to thee, members of the class of 1967. May your future bring each of you the very best of health; mucho, mucho happiness; and the great success you so richly deserve.

I cannot extend this toast to your future, however, without a suggestion to accompany it. I firmly believe that your future health, happiness, and success, to put it mathematically, is today a function of a very important concept which is within the power of each of you. If you have done the best you could these past four years, you can best fulfill our wish for you by caring what you think of yourself, thus good mental health; caring what you do to yourself, thus good physical health; and assure yourself of much happiness and increase your chances for success by caring about your home, parents, and family; caring about your neighbors, upstairs, next door, across the street, and downtown; caring about your home town and your many home communities of the future; caring about your local government, churches, schools, hospitals, industries, etc., etc.; caring very much about a nation which you did not choose but a nation that does choose to care about you, and a nation that has, just prior to your life span, assumed the awesome task of caring for much of the world. This nation can certainly help you achieve success if you care enough to care about yourself, your home, your community, and this nation. So, if you care more, and I care more, then logically we care more. Then, perhaps, they will care more. Yes, they; other Americans and then perhaps the rest of the world may care more about us.

One of my childhood heros was a man who cared about people, a man who cared very, very much about this nation. This man is still my hero. You know of the man of whom I speak; not a man of my generation nor, naturally, of yours — Abraham Lincoln. Abraham, a name that seems as old as the earth. Lincoln, a name as modern as today's cars. Abraham Lincoln. I would like to think that a man who put so much caring for others into his life span could serve as an inspiration to you for caring more during your lifetime.

In conclusion, I am sure that the faculty of Troy High School joins in this wish for you. Will you and can you fulfill this wish? I say yes! Now, in not too many hours and in an even lesser number of days, you will sever formal relations with Troy High School. I have just one more wish, it is my own, to add. While I must admit that I don't know most of you, those of you whom I do know prompt me to wish that I could go with you as you leave. Oh, how I wish that I could go with you, members of the class of 1967, for a very simple reason — just to be with you for a little while longer. Thank you and bless you for these four years.

Senior Toast to Faculty

by JACK SNELL

A toast to the ones who taught us math,
All four years were quite a laugh.
With triangles, squares, and cubed hypotenuse,
Our algebra and trig. books got a lot of use.

A toast to the ones who taught us the arts,
One-act plays and oil paintings were quite a lark.
Bailey and Preston deserve a good hand,
The job that they did was really grand.

To the instructors of health we say "thank you"
As builders of bodies you've built quite a few.
The head of them all is Buffalo Bob,
Without his help it would have been a tough job.

Cheers to the ones who gave us science,
We studied biology with eager compliance.
Chemistry and Physics weren't ring-a-ding-ding,
'cause Smittyology was the thing.

A toast to the man who leads the band,
Johnny Bob Slonaker is a very good man.
Maestros Dooley and Wildman with all their finesse,
Provided musical programs with great success.

The Home Ec. Department is one of the finest,
It teaches the girls self reliance.
A toast to the men who teach in the shops,
The things they produce are really tops.

A salute to the teachers in the department of "biz"
The students turned out are really a whiz.

Cheers to Spanish, French, and Latin, too,
Without foreign language we couldn't get thru.
But we learned how to write in English you all know,
So to Prouty and crew we bow very low.

To Hoffy, Lord Jim, and all of the rest,
The cheers we give are some of the best.
A rewarding four years is what we've spent,
Hope we've learned enough to "pay the rent."

A toast to all teachers tried and true,
It's a wonder to me how you ever get through.

We, the members of the Trojan '67 annual staff would like to thank the following people for their contributions and efforts to the annual: Mrs. Gene Moore, our editorial advisor, who helped us make up the editorial portion of the annual in the best manner possible; Mr. Vernon Knuckles, our business manager, who worked with us in setting up the advertisements and providing funds for the annual; Mr. Frank Prouty, our literary advisor, who carefully checked all the written material in the editorial portion of the annual; Messrs. Howard Hoffman and James Welbaum, our principal and assistant principal respectively, who made coverage of the school year as complete and accurate as possible; Messrs. Homer and John English, who contributed most of the photographic work in the annual; Mr. Joe Gaeke, who provided us with action shots for sports and the campaign rallies; Mr. Don Walker, representative of the Balfour Company, who provided us with a copy of the school seal for the Contents page; Mr. Paul Retrum, representative of the Artmaster Publishing Company, who offered invaluable assistance and suggestions as to the construction of the annual; and everyone else who contributed anything to the success of the Trojan '67.
